

Charlotta Ljungdahl, Group Intellectual Property Director, Air Liquide

Charlotta is Director of Intellectual Property for the Air Liquide Group, based at the head office in Paris. After several years of working in Air Liquide's US operations as a bar licensed attorney, she is presently in charge of developing the global IP strategy for the Group. This mission involves building a strong IP platform supporting Air Liquide's worldwide business activities, and develop IP solutions for the Group's accelerated innovation activities. Charlotta is a Swedish native and holds Master of Law degrees from the University of Stockholm and the University of Houston. She participates in a number of IP associations and is member of the Administrative Council of LES France.